He's been a disaster, but I still believe he's a decent man. And this is how Starmer's time in No 10 will end, most likely within days... by DAN HODGES

Daily Mail (UK News) · Fri, 06 Feb 2026 07:14:37 GMT

This is how I think it will end. Keir Starmer will take off his tie, pour himself a large glass of wine, kick back, and come to a couple of unwelcome but inevitable conclusions.

It's tragic that a decent PM will be brought down by Mandelson's sleaze – but it's a matter of when, not if | Polly Toynbee

Guardian (Politics) · Fri, 06 Feb 2026 06:00:03 GMT

With three years left and a huge majority, Labour can govern with more humility and deliver real change. But with Starmer at the helm? I can't see it The smell of death is in the Westminster air. Labour's King Rat Peter Mandelson has again cast his sulphurous odour of villainy around the palace, and contamination may do

Fixing your energy bill can save you money - but two fifths of households think it locks in higher standard rates

Daily Mail (Articles) · Fri, 06 Feb 2026 07:00:46 +0000

Fixed energy tariffs are priced differently to standard variable ones, so if you haven't fixed in a year or more, it's worth comparing deals to see whether you can cut your bill.
