[The Guardian] 'Terminally online': why frustrated Greens want Polanski to hand over his social media

Wed, 29 Jul 2026 07:21:07 GMT

As Labour enjoy a 'Burnham bounce', post by Green leader that appeared to welcome violence against Nigel Farage has left some supporters bemused. It is just coincidence that a very public mishap by Zack Polanski arrived at the same time as new polls showed Labour in the lead. But it did neatly illustrate the point that

[The Guardian] Suddenly the British right feels a political chill. It's getting cold in Andy Burnham's shadow | Rafael Behr

Wed, 29 Jul 2026 05:00:23 GMT

The Tories and Reform had it easy when Keir Starmer was self-destructing – but a new PM with ideas exposes how vacant the opposition has become. Andy Burnham's recollections of Britain in the 1970s must be pretty hazy. He was nine when the decade ended. Kemi Badenoch, born in 1980, can remember nothing. Lacking first-hand

[The Guardian] 'Farage's got to come clean or clear off': what voters on Clacton beach think about their MP – and the country

Nigel Farage's constituency takes in genteel resorts and one of England's poorest villages. With a snap byelection approaching, what do the residents want from the Reform UK leader – or the bin who's challenging him? 'If it's the Tin Man, then I suppose I'll vote for Nigel,' says a Clacton resident, a retiree on a slow
